

"Alan Hill is what brilliant philosopher and physicist, Michelle Besso, was to Albert Einstein. Alan acts as that unique and powerful catalyst which unleashes the flash of creative insight to where you look at him and say, "Thank you, my friend. I have solved the whole thing!" The value of that is inestimable, and life-changing." - Erl Morell-Stinson

Alan is called the Miracle Worker because his unique perspective and talent combine to help you find the value in yourself, your situation, your career and your company.

You will not walk away from a meeting with Alan unchanged. He cares, he commits and inspires you do to the same. Alan's ability to inspire has been favorably compared to the likes of Lou Holtz and Will Steger.

Alan believes that employees and corporations must combine to provide unique and compelling value to their customers to win in the marketplace.

Alan is co-founder of the Quantum Common Wealth, an enterprise focused on economic development and growth. <http://quantumcommonwealth.com>.

Alan's passionate about the topics of job search, leading linchpins in the workplace and developing employee wealth. Because of his authentic passion for others, Alan has been invited to present over 100 workshops in the last year at State Workforce Centers, Minnebar and Adult Development groups. Alan gave the keynote commencement speech at Globe College in 2010. Alan's media appearances include MSNBC, Fox News, CBS Evening News, Star Tribune and Fox 9 News.

He has written extensively on the subject of value and worth, including reports, training videos and articles like; "Spotting Opportunities in Crisis", "Applying Transformation Principles", "Creating Trade Based Corporate Structures" and "Wealthy Employees, Wealthy Companies". Many of these are available on his blog at <http://themiracleworker.wordpress.com>.

Alan earned his Associate of Electronics degree at Northwestern Electronics Institute and was previously an International Business Coach Institute (IBCI) Certified business coach. He currently resides in Minneapolis, MN with his wife Jennifer and two Basset Hounds.

Email: miracleworker@srkinc.com

Cell: (612) 819 – 1803